Course Description: The central question that will guide class discussions and assignments is what does contemporary folklore suggest/reveal about sexuality (attitudes, behaviors, identities) in Eugene and the U.S. in 2015? We will examine a wide range of folklore forms that comprise explicit and implicit sexual content as our entry point for exploring how normative and transformative ideas about sexuality are constituted, perpetuated, and resisted among and between various groups in the United States. Central themes include folklore and heteronormative sexuality, multiplicities of sexual identities, relationships between sexuality and other categories of identity, sexuality and violence, and resistance and transformation.

Required Texts:
- All other readings are available electronically on Blackboard.
  - Login to FLR 370 through your Blackboard account. [https://blackboard.uoregon.edu]
  - Click on “Control Panel” then “Course Documents” then “Assigned Readings”
  - The readings are listed in the order that they are assigned by author(s)’s last name. In a few cases, a reading consists of more than one file. Be sure to read all files.

Learning Outcomes
1. Strengthen skills in written and oral communication and critical thinking.
2. Identify, explain and apply terminology and concepts in folklore scholarship related to gender and sexuality.
3. Augment critical understanding of how folklore forms operate to reinforce and resist normative ideas about sexuality.
4. Explore how folklore is used to create interactional spaces for alternate sexual identities and practices.

Assignments: [Graded on a 100% scale: 90-100% A/80-89 B/70-79 C/60-69 D/0-59 F]
- Attend lecture or event (5% of final grade): Each student attends one lecture or event outside of class (announcements will be made in class and email) related to folklore and sexuality. Students submit a 1-page paper briefly describing the event and analyzing its relevance to class themes.
- Folklore and Sexuality Example (5% final grade): Students will be divided into 4 groups. On assigned day, each individual in the group brings an example of folklore relating to sexuality. Each shares the example (individually) and discusses the social significance of the example. (4/16, 4/23, 5/14, 5/28)
- Quizzes (45% of final grade, 15% each): Three short answer/essay quizzes will test students on terms and readings. (4/21, 5/12, 6/2)
- Folklore and Sexuality Journal Project and Analytical Paper (45% of final grade). Guidelines will be distributed in class (WRITTEN PORTIONS DUE 6/2):
  - Folklore and Sexuality Journal Entries (30% final grade)
  - 5-page analysis paper (analyzing material collected in journal) (10% of final grade)
  - Presentation of Journal Project (Week 10, 5% final grade): Each student will make a brief presentation about the journal project during the last week of class.

Respect: We will address many personal and controversial topics in this class. Each one of us will find certain discussions and materials difficult. It is essential that we work together to create a classroom environment where everyone feels free to express their opinions while simultaneously respecting the plurality of experiences and perspectives of others so that we can productively engage with critical social issues.
Special Needs/Accessibility: I will do everything possible to assist those with special needs. Please meet with me in the first week of class to discuss how I can accommodate you.

Academic Honesty/Plagiarism
All work submitted in this course must be your own and produced exclusively for this course. I will not tolerate any dishonesty or plagiarism. The use of sources (ideas, quotations, paraphrases from books, articles, websites, archives, interviews etc.) must be properly acknowledged and documented. Violations will be taken seriously and are noted on student disciplinary records. To learn more about plagiarism and how to avoid it, consult the UO library’s guide on plagiarism: http://libweb.uoregon.edu/guides/plagiarism/students/. If you are in doubt regarding any aspect of these issues as they pertain to this course, please consult the instructor before you complete any relevant requirements. To learn about the consequences of academic dishonesty, consult the UO Student Conduct Code: http://studentlife.uoregon.edu/programs/student_judi_affairs/conduct-code.htm.

Attendance
- Class periods are used for discussions, lectures, presentations, small group activities, writings, and other activities. Attendance is therefore mandatory and fundamental to your success in this course.
- If you have to miss class, it is your responsibility to obtain notes and materials. If your absence is due to excusable circumstances, you may meet with me (either during office hours or a scheduled appointment) to review missed materials.
- Excusable circumstances include: a death in the family, a serious illness, ill children, observance of a religious holiday, and other university recognized conflicts. Be prepared to provide documentation.
- If excusable circumstances prevent your attendance at an quiz or your turning in an assignment on time, inform your professor before or within 24 hours after the quiz or deadline via e-mail, telephone, or a dated note in the professor’s mailbox (this requirement will be lifted in extreme circumstances). STUDENTS CANNOT MAKE-UP ASSIGNMENTS OR EXAMS DUE TO UNEXCUSED ABSENCES. LATE PROJECTS (not due to excusable circumstances) WILL DROP ONE LETTER GRADE EACH DAY (including weekend days) THEY ARE LATE.
