This course will introduce you to the formal and narrative study of film. We will focus on film history, the technology of film production, and the methodology of film studies as an academic discipline. Along with film itself, we will pay particular attention to the cultural, political, and economic contexts from which it emerges. To emphasize—and unpack—the formal conventions of narrative cinema, much of the required viewing falls within readily identifiable genre categories, but we will also analyze experimental, realist, and documentary films.

Learning outcomes specific to this course:
- Introduce students to the fundamental concepts, historical context, and vocabulary of film studies
- Inspire students to critically analyze visual media, its cultural and political contexts, and their worldly impact

Syllabus Statement: You are responsible for knowing the information listed on this syllabus. The syllabus is available on the course website on Canvas. Consult the syllabus before contacting me about any course logistics; I will not respond to questions that it already answers.

Additional readings in PDF format on Canvas, print out/download and bring to class
Several of the films we will watch are available on the Kanopy streaming service free to UO students: https://uoregon-kanopystreaming-com.libproxy.uoregon.edu/

Coursework and Grading
Attendance: I take attendance every class, screening and lecture. You are allowed two absences without penalty. Each subsequent absence will result in a deduction of 1/3 of a letter grade from your final grade (i.e. A to an A-) except in the instance of a documented medical or family emergency. On a fourth unexcused absence you will automatically fail the course. If you miss a screening, you are responsible for watching the film on your own. If you miss lecture, contact a classmate for notes and review them in detail before contacting me with any specific questions about those notes, the text, or the film. You are responsible for keeping track of your attendance. Do not ask me how many absences you have.
Reading: Students must complete reading assignments before the date they are listed on the course schedule. However, since readings apply directly to the films we’ll watch, I encourage you to complete your reading before each screening.
Participation: Although there is not a participation grade for this course, you are all expected to participate in class discussion. Productive, regular participation in class discussion will benefit your overall grade for the course. You must show respect for the ideas and opinions of other students. Disrespectful or disruptive classroom conduct (side conversations, use of electronic devices for purposes unrelated to class) will result in a marked absence for that day’s class.

Reading/Viewing Quizzes: 25% of overall grade. There will be 9 short quizzes to test reading and viewing comprehension. Quizzes will take place during the first 10 minutes of class on the days they are scheduled (see schedule below). There are no makeup quizzes, but I will drop your lowest weekly quiz grade from the final grade calculation. Quizzes will be through Canvas and can be taken on phones, tablets, or computers. After the quiz is complete, please put away electronic devices. If you are unable to take quizzes electronically, let me know as soon as possible and I will make arrangements for a paper quiz.

Sequence Analysis (due on Canvas by 11:59 p.m. on 8/7): 20% of overall grade. in DOC or DOCX format only, Canvas does not process Pages or ODT files. Following up on our material on cinematography and editing, you will catalog how these elements function in one of two scenes. Film segments to analyze will be available on either Kanopy or YouTube. I will provide more detailed guidelines for this assignment on Canvas at least a week before the due date. Due to the short timeline of summer classes, late sequence analysis assignments will be marked down a full letter grade for each day late.

Vocabulary Assignments (due on Canvas by 11:59 p.m. on 7/22, 7/29, and 8/5): 15% of overall grade. Each of the first three weeks I will provide a list of 5 vocabulary terms/questions you will define/respond to and submit in a document on Canvas. These vocabulary assignments will help you to think closely and critically about important material from lectures and readings. Additionally, the definition component of the final exam will draw from the range of terms you’ll define and analyze in these three assignments. Late vocabulary assignments will be marked down 1 (out of 5 possible) points for each day late.

Final Exam (Thursday, 8/11): 40% of overall grade. The final will be cumulative to allow you to demonstrate the breadth of knowledge you’ve acquired throughout the quarter. In addition to the variety of questions listed as possible for the midterm, the final will contain one or two short essays. I will distribute essay questions in advance of the final to allow for preparation. We will review for the final during the last week of class.

You must take the final on the scheduled date at the scheduled time. No alternate or makeup exams. If you will not be able to attend either of the exams, drop the class.

Grade Breakdown:
- Reading/Viewing Quizzes: 25%
- Sequence Analysis: 20%
- Vocabulary Assignments: 15%
- Final Exam: 40%

The English Department’s assessment procedure is built around six desired learning outcomes:
1. Read literary and cultural texts with discernment and comprehension and with an understanding of their conventions;
2. Draw on relevant cultural and/or historical information to situate texts within their cultural, political, and historical contexts;
3. Perform critical, formal analyses of literary, cinematic, and other cultural texts;
4. Write focused, analytical essays in clear, grammatical prose;
5. Employ logic, creativity, and interpretive skills to produce original, persuasive arguments;
6. Employ primary and/or secondary sources, with proper acknowledgment and citation, as they contribute to a critical essay’s thesis.

Academic Integrity:
All work must adhere to standards of academic honesty outlined in the Student Handbook. Do not turn in work prepared for other classes. Document all sources consulted, including websites and other Internet content. Plagiarism will result in failure for the course and additional sanctions as determined by the Office of Student Conduct and Community Standards:
http://uodos.uoregon.edu/StudentConductandCommunityStandards.aspx
Accommodations for students with disabilities:
In compliance with UO policy and equal access laws, I am available to discuss appropriate academic accommodations that may be required for student with disabilities. Requests for academic accommodations are to be made during the first two weeks of the quarter, except for unusual circumstances, so arrangements can be made. Students are encouraged to register with the Accessible Education Center (http://aec.uoregon.edu) to verify their eligibility for appropriate accommodations.

Recommended Study Habits and University Resources:
University accreditation standards require at least 2 hours of work outside of class for each credit earned. This means that you are expected to dedicate ~8 hours/week of outside of class work. This will usually mean reading the assigned texts, but will also include time spent completing assignments, writing papers, and working on larger projects.

Numerous campus resources are available which you should avail yourself of if you desire assistance with academic or extra-academic issues. For a full list, please see the Blackboard document “University Resources”; I will also discuss relevant resources throughout the quarter.

WARNING: This class will screen media that contains explicit depictions of sex, violence, adult themes, coarse language, and material that some might find offensive. If you think that this might be a problem for you, please come talk to me about whether we can find a solution, or if this is the best class for you.
